

Insider Threat Information Update!

In accordance with published DCSA guidance, industry insider threat program personnel appointed after July 1, 2025, can satisfy minimum training requirements by completing either:

- The Center for Development of Security Excellence (CDSE) “Insider Threat Program for Industry Curriculum, INT333.CU”, or
- A contractor-developed training program that incorporates the required topics outlined in 32 CFR 117.12(g)(1).

Contractors may choose to use these pre-validated NISPPAC training slides as their contractor-developed solution to save time and effort in developing and validating their own training material.

- Companies are not permitted to modify the training in any way. Any changes—including additions—would require a new review by DCSA.
- If a company needs to address organization-specific topics, that content must be delivered in a separate, standalone briefing.
